TAX INVESTIGATION SERVICE

A small retail business received a VAT visit followed by some written questions from HMRC, they had the support of their accountant throughout, right from the notice of the VAT visit. This resulted in a timely conclusion of HMRC's enquiry and virtually no additional tax to pay. The professional fees amounted to £3,200. Fortunately, the business had subscribed to the tax investigation service and these fees were met in full by the service.

STRESS

UNCERTAINTY

WHAT IS AN HMRC ENQUIRY?

It is no surprise that small businesses and individuals are on the HMRC radar, they account for over half of the £35 billion tax gap.

HMRC actively target areas where they believe tax is at risk and they use sophisticated software to analyse a huge range of data sources to identify anomalies that lead to an enquiry. There are also enquiries that result from HMRC actively encouraging members of the public to report taxpayers via their hotline and they also continue to carry out some random enquiries.

Where this is unfair on the taxpayer is where they actually have no additional tax to pay but still have to deal with all of the queries, face the stress and uncertainty of an HMRC visit or investigation as well as the inevitable disruption that this will cause.

If this was not enough you are also strongly advised to engage expert professional representation to ensure you provide a robust response and bring the issue to an early resolution, this of course comes at a cost.
